FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

New retail store opening in Houston for fashion-forward families on a budget

Shoe mega-shop and stylish boutique section for juniors available at the new Marshalls opening at Northline Commons on Thursday, Aug. 7

August 5, 2007—Houston families on a budget don't have to compromise on style. A new Marshalls will debut its shoe mega-shop and hip, new juniors department concepts in Houston with the opening of a new store Thursday, August 7, at Northline Commons (4440 North Freeway, 77022).

Marshalls will offer Northline customers brand name fashions at prices up to 60-percent less than department store prices. The new store will include a Marshalls Shoe MegaShop featuring hundreds of designer shoes for the whole family and The Cube, a hip, new juniors section with music and lighting unique from the rest of the store.

"Off-price shopping, style, and convenience are important to families on a budget," said Rebecca Victor, Northline Commons' general manager. "I expect the new Marshalls will be very popular with customers as families try to stretch their dollar, especially during back-to-school."

Marshalls will be the latest store to open at Northline Commons, one of the bayou city's newest urban, open-air shopping destinations. Northline provides shoppers a new commons center to run all of their errands. Houstonians can eat, shop, bank, and more, all at Northline's convenient open-air center. Specialty stores such as Conn's and Office Depot also are expected to move in this fall.

Northline Commons is located at 4400 North Freeway, 77022 on the corner of Crosstimbers St. and I-45 North. For more information, please visit www.northlinecommons.com.
